

How will you convince me your home business works?

What will you tell me about your work at home opportunity that will convince me your for real, and what your doing I can grab hold of quickly, and start to build at a realistic pace? Keep in mind I can't afford to send out 5,000 postcards and keep my fingers crossed. Especially after the affiliate entry fee.

Your website is very impressive, the compensation plan is a healthy one, and the company leaders seem very smart. The products look great, but I'm not going to drive my family and friends crazy with this. They are going to run everytime they see me, and then what? I need some kind of social life like anyone does.

You say to buy warm market leads, they are around 4 dollars each. That could get expensive each week at 10 calls each day on my budget. And besides, I hate when telemarketers call and try and sell me something, and they always call so late. What would I say to someone that would probably just hang up anyway.

Running ads in the opportunity magazines are very costly, again I have bills to pay. I would have to at least break even all the time, don't you think I would be better off going to vegas? At least I would have some fun for the money I would spend. So how do I make money and show a real profit with your home business opportunity and products?

You mentioned email marketing. Isn't that for those who have a list of interested networkers. I'm just starting out, I have no list. I suppose you could purchase email leads, but that is spamming. I'm not taking any kind of chances like that, no way!

I have gone on traffic websites and safelists, and took a good look. Everybody is doing the same thing, crazy don't you think? People trying to persuade people that already have a business, and besides who looks through all that junk anyway? Have you seen some of that stuff? It appears I would be back to square one with approaching strangers, gimme a break!

So the point is, if you don't have a sponsoring system that people can see the value and duplicate easily, your barking up the wrong tree. People don't care about how great your opportunity appears to be. They want a system that works, and they can put to use quickly and gives results. Not a waste of time!

About the Author

I finally gave up on trying to be a salesman in my home business. My network grew when I put this into motion. magnetic sponsoring system
